

DESIGNED FOR MODERN LIVING

SUMMER 2025

BDIUSA.COM

Driven by Design Since 1984.

I have always appreciated the power of good design. Good design is more than how something looks—it is how it functions, how it performs, how it affects us far beyond simply its aesthetic value.

'Designing with purpose' is at the core of BDI. Before we develop any product, we first determine what problem we are trying to solve. Are we creating a workspace that will be more organized and efficient, allowing us to work smarter? Are we engineering a home theater system that will make movie night more special because the focus is on the film and not on the electronics? Are we creating new and innovative ways to integrate today's digital lifestyle into everyday life?

It is this purpose-driven philosophy at the heart of BDI that allows us to create beautifully practical furniture. Yes, we want to create memorable designs that look good, but they must serve a higher purpose. Our collections must have a timeless appeal while still adapting to the ever-changing needs of today's technology.

I hope that you enjoy reviewing this product catalog and discovering the ways that BDI furniture is designed to enhance the ways we work, live, and play.

Thank you.

Driven by design. It's not just something that we say, it's something that we live and breathe at all levels of our company. Meet the talented team of award-winning designers behind BDI's innovative collections.

Bill Becker

CEO AND DESIGN DIRECTOR

Bill's mission has always been to develop unique and innovative furniture that enhances the quality of life. As BDI's CEO and Design Director, he continues this commitment by leading the effort to create designs which have a classic modernism and timeless style.

Matthew Weatherly

ASSOCIATE DESIGN DIRECTOR

Matthew's design direction is heavily influenced by Danish modern style and inspired by soft minimalism. He studied Scandinavian design, architecture, and woodworking at the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts, and holds a degree in Industrial Design from Pratt Institute.

Jeff Bare

Jeff combines a thorough understanding of construction and design to create furniture that functions as well as it looks. With a playful yet modern approach, Jeff's eye focuses on the way in which a design is experienced. From conception to production, his understanding of material resources and manufacturing methods ensures that every design is thoughtfully engineered with attention to detail. Jeff studied Industrial Design at Philadelphia University.

Al Glass

Clean and understated, Al's designs are simply sophisticated. Using simple proportions to create clear, classic pieces, he adds detail to make his designs stand out above the crowd, often embellishing them with simple details inspired by his life at the beach.

Jason Guidry

With a passion for creating innovative designs that blur the line between form and function—and with an attention to detail that makes for a unique expression—Jason is constantly striving to create that perfect experience for the end user.

Louis A. Lara

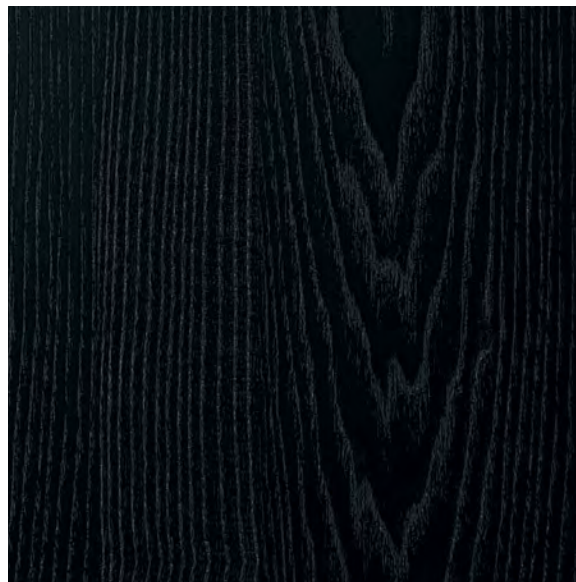

Louis designs with a sculptor's eye for form and detail. His designs have an innate sense of proportion and grace. The simplicity of his styling transcends fads and momentary trends to have a timeless appeal. Always refined, Louis' designs have a sculptural simplicity that is not only beautiful but functional.

BDI's wood finishes are comprised of a combination of hardwoods and natural hardwood veneers. The beauty of wood lies in the infinite variations of grain, texture, and color that develop as a tree grows. As wood is a natural product, it is affected by weather, climate, soil, light, and growth patterns.

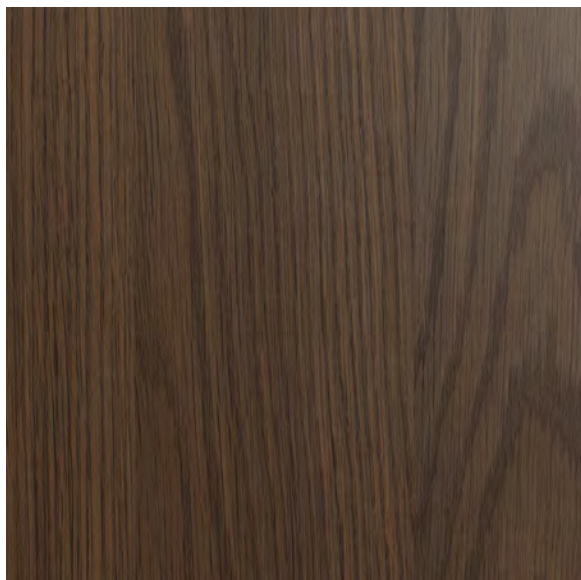

Variations in wood pattern and color are to be expected from one piece to the next, and will even vary from one panel to another. It is this organic characteristic of real wood that ensures that each design is a unique work of nature.

Thermally fused laminate (TFL) surfaces provide consistent characteristics and offers excellent heat, moisture, stain, and wear resistance.
